

The Celts

Introduction- Example

The Celts were a large group of Caucasian tribes in Europe. They first appeared in the early Iron Age, around 1200 B.C. From around 750 BC to 12 BC, the Celts were the most powerful people in central and northern Europe. There were many groups (tribes) of Celts, speaking a vaguely common language. The Celts were a very advanced society. For instance, they learned how to make weapons from iron, which is why we call the time they lived in the Iron Age. In Britain, the Celts settled in areas such as Cornwall and Wales.

The Celts were a large group of Caucasian tribes in Europe. They first appeared in the early Iron Age, around 1200 B.C. From around 750 BC to 12 BC, the Celts were the most powerful people in central and northern Europe. There were many groups (tribes) of Celts, speaking a vaguely common language. The Celts were a very advanced society. For instance, they learned how to make weapons from iron, which is why we call the time they lived in the Iron Age. In Britain, the Celts settled in areas such as Cornwall and Wales.

Who were the Celts?

Where did they live?

When did they live?

General information